

REMARKS

It is believed that the specification as originally filed adequately supports the claimed invention. The fact that the specification says "may" does not seem to go to any Section 112 issue. For example, the specification could have said you can do it by x, or y, or z. That is support for claims directed for doing it by x, y, and z. However, to avoid any issue here, the specification has been amended to limit the specification in the same way the claims are now limited.

Respectfully submitted,
